JIMI Class of 2016

General Information

Our 2017 program marks the 17th annual Jekyll Island Management Institute. At JIMI, museum personnel have the opportunity to learn current methods in the field and build networks with other museum professionals. Faculty members provide subject area expertise and practical approaches to administrative challenges.

Goals

This annual Institute provides an eight-day, total immersion environment for museum professionals to learn more about general museum administration and operations. JIMI gives administrators the key resources imperative to orchestrating personnel efficiency, staff morale and overall organizational improvement.

JIMI offers opportunities for participants to learn management skills through presentations, small group discussions, projects and participatory exercises. Participants discover their management styles through self-tests and activities, group project assignments and presentations.

Martha Battle Jackson, Chief Curator, North Carolina Division of State Historic Sites and Properties, serves as Institute Administrator.

John S. Lancaster, Independent Historic House Museum Consultant, serves as Institute Facilitator.

WHAT RECENT GRADUATES HAVE TO SAY!

"This SEMC program is an incredible resource that will benefit my career now and for years to come. I can only imagine the broad benefit JIMI has and will have on the field."
