8:30 AM - 11:00 AM SEMC COUNCIL MEETING

IIII Meeting Room 2

9:00 AM - 11:15 AM ON-SITE WORKSHOP: CONDITION REPORTING FOR COLLECTIONS AND LOANS

IIIII Meeting Rooms 7/8

Moderator/Presenter: David Goist, Conservator of Paintings, Goist Art Services, LLC, Raleigh, NC

Presenters: Kesha Talbert, Conservator of Paper, Freer Gallery, Contract Conservator, Washington, DC, Carolyn Grosch, Curator of Collections and Exhibitions, Western Carolina University, Cullowhee, NC

Condition Reports are a key element of Collections Records. Accurate condition evaluation is important at the time of acquisition or as an artifact is loaned or borrowed. Condition reports can become a critical tool should damage be claimed either from poor handling, bad environment, accident, or vandalism. Two experienced conservators will review the agents of deterioration with advice as to whether the effects of age or inherent vice constitute the need for professional conservation care. The workshop will focus on paintings and works on paper. The instructors will review the various media used to create works of art and will offer advice on media identification. The instructors will have available several paintings and works on paper for attendees to do hands-on examination. Attendees are asked to bring their preferred magnification tool and several pairs of cotton gloves. Attendees may also bring examples of unknown media or state of preservation. The workshop is designed for individuals whose responsibility is the creation of accurate condition reports. Registrars, curators, and students are the target audience. (Sponsor: SERA)

10:00 am - 11:15 am CONCURRENT VIRTUAL SESSIONS 🤶

Building Climate Dialogue and Resilience Through Online Communities

Twatch Party — Meeting Room 16

Moderator/Presenter: Julia Kumari Drapkin, Founder and CEO, ISeeChange,

Presenters: Samantha Harrington, Community Manager, ISeeChange, Louisiana, Max Cawley, Associate Program Manager of Learning Philosophy and Evaluation, Museum of Life and Science, Durham, NC

Museums house our collective change histories with exhibits and in-person programs, however, digital tools present opportunities to link our collective experiences in real-time. In this session, attendees will learn how to use digital tools like ISeeChange to engage communities with climate science and inform local planning efforts.

Writing Outside of the Lines: Collaboration and Online Instruction in Higher Learning during COVID-19

Twatch Party — Meeting Room 17

Moderator/Presenter: Katy Malone, Curator of Academic Programs, McClung Museum of Natural History and Culture, Knoxville, TN

Presenters: Holland Prior, Assistant Director of Composition, Department of English, University of Tennessee-Knoxville

Last year, when higher learning went online, academic museums did too. At the University of Tennessee, an exciting collaboration was formed between the McClung Museum and First-Year Composition Program. Learn how, with no budget, museum expertise transformed a standard primary-source writing assignment into an asynchronous module for the campus-wide English 102 curriculum.

Responsive Collecting: Pandemic, Black Lives Matter, and Beyond

Twatch Party — Meeting Room 18

Moderator/Presenter: Erica Hague, Collections Manager, Atlanta History Center, Atlanta, GA

Presenters: Kara Deadmon, Museum Curator, North Carolina State Capitol Division of State Historic Sites and Properties, NC Dept. of Natural and Cultural Resources, Vann Evans, Audio-Visual Materials Archivist, State Archives of North Carolina

This roundtable discussion will focus on responsive collecting efforts over the past year. Please submit questions in advance (ehague@atlantahistorycenter.com) or during the panel for the entire group to discuss. Let's talk about how the future of collecting might look, and the challenges that we might face. (Leadership Track) (Sponsor: SERA)

A Recipe for Major Gifts Success

Room 19 Watch Party — Meeting Room

Moderator/Presenter: Linda McNay, Consultant, Our Fundraising Search, Atlanta, GA

Presenters: Stacy Palado, Director of External Relations, McClung Museum of Natural History and Culture, Knoxville, TN, Lori Calvert, Director of Development, Knoxville Museum of Art, Knoxville, TN, David Moore, Director Emeritus, Historic Oakland Cemetery Foundation

Museums need to amplify their fundraising programs beyond simply membership and annual giving and connect with donors in a meaningful way, allowing them to grow and transform their organizations for the future! From sponsorships to endowments, major gifts feed our capacities to achieve transformational change. A successful major gifts program requires many ingredients, from knowing how to invite guests to the table to understanding your organization's "secret sauce." Join chefs David Moore, Director Emeritus of the Historic Oakland Foundation; Linda McNay, Consultant with Our Fundraising Search; Stacy Palado, Director of External Relations at McClung Museum of Natural History and Culture, University of Tennessee; and Lori Calvert, Director of Development at the Knoxville Museum of Art to learn the recipe for a successful Major Gifts Program for your museum. State Museum Associations Roundtable

Twatch Party — Meeting Room 20

Moderator: Scott Warren, Past President, North Carolina Museums Council, Pineville, NC

Join representatives from the various state museum associations throughout the southeast to meet, network, and discuss what each state's organization is doing. Small groups and facilitated discussion exercises

Handling Hard History

IIII Meeting Room 20

Moderator/Presenter: Camille Hunt, Senior Museum Registrar, North Carolina Museum of History, Raleigh, NC

Presenters: Vincent Barraza, Digital Preservation Librarian, Xavier University of Louisiana, New Orleans, LA, Fielding Freed, Director of Historic House Museums, Historic Columbia Foundation, Columbia, SC, David Serxner, Independent Historian and Researcher, Raleigh, NC, Dr. Sharlene Sinegal-DeCuir, Associate Professor of History, Xavier University of Louisiana, New Orleans, LA

We usually separate ourselves from the objects we handle, preserve, and interpret. We make sure the objects are properly stored and exhibited and that the stories we share are authentic. Sometimes the separation fails, and things get overwhelming. We are confronted with the harsh history of some of these objects. Hear a variety of perspectives and engage in thoughtful discussion about how we are personally affected and how to cope. (Sponsor: SERA)

Presenter: Cynthia Torp, Owner, Solid Light, Inc., Louisville, KY

Join in a discussion about the museum exhibit field with representatives from museum education, curation, exhibit design, and others while visiting one of the local museum's exhibits galleries. Then meet up with some of the staff that worked on the exhibit and hear about their process, their proudest achievements, and where they wished they had more resources to work with. A general discussion on the role of each field and how they all fit into and shape the exhibit's process will follow. (Pre-registration required, Max 25)

2:45 pm - 4:00 pm CONCURRENT ON-SITE SESSIONS

Volunteer Reset: Reimagine and Re-Engage

IIII Meeting Room 2

Moderator/Presenter: Tracy Kennan, Curator of Education, New Orleans Museum of Art, New Orleans, LA

Presenters: Marcy Breffle, Education Manager, Historic Oakland Foundation, Atlanta, GA, Jennifer Reid, Director of Volunteer and Visitor Services, The Bremen Museum, Atlanta, GA, Terri Clark, Volunteer/Intern Coordinator, Chattanooga Zoo, Chattanooga, TN

In 2020, many institutions suspended or reimagined their volunteer programs. Whether planning Zoom happy hours or making the volunteer work virtual, we all implemented creative solutions - both big and small. What is the state of your volunteer program now? What are your immediate goals for re-engaging volunteers? How would you like your program to look in five years? Come to this facilitated discussion ready to address these questions and we will work together to brainstorm and share possible solutions.

Ask an Expert! Speed Mentor Networking

Meeting Rooms 7/8

Moderator: Elise LeCompte, Registrar and Assistant Department Chair, Florida Museum of Natural History, Gainesville, FL

This mentoring session will provide an opportunity for conference attendees to interface with different established professionals in the museum field. Participants can opt to ask general questions about career development or seek the advice of an expert on a specific topic, project, and/or challenge. (Pre-registration required, Max 20)

Resume Tips & Tricks: Writing for the Job You Want

IIIII Meeting Room 9

Moderator/Presenter: Katie Ericson, Senior Manager of School and Volunteer Support Programs, Michael C. Carlos Museum, Emory University, Atlanta, GA

Presenters: Scott Warren, Site Manager, President James K. Polk Historic Site, Pineville, NC, Kali Mason, Curator, Perot Services, Dallas, TX, Joshua Whitfield, Museum Specialist, Museum of Aviation, Robins AFB, Warner Robins, GA, Virginia Howell, Director, Robert C. Williams Museum of Papermaking, Georgia Tech, Atlanta, GA

With an influx of individuals in search of work, museum candidate pools are more competitive than ever. So how can you make sure your resume stands out? Hear from representatives from federal, state, private, and academic museums for tips and tricks on how to tailor your resume and navigate the application process to help you land the job you want.

Doing More With Less: Environmental Monitoring During and After the Pandemic

IIII Meeting Room 10

Moderator/Presenter: Austin Senseman, CEO, Conserv, Birmingham, AL The pandemic made it difficult to care for the objects in our collections. With staff reductions and not being physically on-site, environmental monitoring became particularly difficult. Museums that invested in modern, remote monitoring equipment weathered the pandemic better and set themselves up for success in our new post-pandemic world. Come learn how Conserv is supporting museum efforts to maintain and improve collections care in a world where we're all trying to do more with less.

Is Your Museum Surviving or Thriving?

IIII Meeting Room 16

Moderator/Presenter: Mattie Codling, Director of Collections and Exhibitions, Walter Anderson Museum of Art, Ocean Springs, MS

Presenters: Jackie Spainhour, Museum Director, Hunter House Victorian Museum, Norfolk, VA

As Museum professionals we all want our organizations to succeed. We would love our institutions to be healthy and vital fixtures in the community but that is not always the case. In this panel discussion, you will hear from two museum professionals who have seen their organizations go from just surviving to thriving throughout their employment. These case studies will provide insight into the issues most museums will face over their lifetimes. Additionally, attendees will come away with applicable tips and techniques to boost their museums' relevance and creative capital.

Where Did I Put That? Inventory 101

IIII Meeting Room 17

Moderator/Presenter: Kaitlyn Hof-Mahoney, Curator of Collections, Matheson History Museum, Gainesville, FL

Presenters: Emily Lozon, Curator of Collections, International Museum of the Horse, Lexington, KY, Michelle Lopez, Collections Manager/Registrar, National Civil Rights Museum, Memphis, TN

In this session, collections professionals from a variety of institution sizes and disciplines will discuss their inventory procedures. This panel will discuss some of the reasons inventories are needed, why they are an essential part of collections stewardship, and how inventory procedures can be adapted to fit institutional needs. (Sponsor: SERA)

How Small Museums Can Be Cultural Change Makers

IIIII Meeting Room 18

 $Moderator/Presenter: Sandra\ Kidd, Senior\ Partner, Alexander\ Haas, Atlanta, GA$

Presenters: TBC

Big issues may have a different perspective when viewed through a small museum lens. When we talk about audience diversity, this might be outreach to rural working families, or recruiting more Board members who aren't among the town's usual leadership group. Your participation in this survey will help us draw upon the experiences of the small museum sector about your successes, and struggles, to be agents of cultural change and diversity in your own communities.

Prioritizing Museum Accessibility: Empathy, Honesty, Patience, and Persistence

IIII Meeting Room 19

Moderator/Presenter: Scott Cryer, Architect, HGA, Washington, DC

Presenters: Tammi Edwards, Director of Special Projects, Tennessee State Museum, Nashville, TN, Dr. Jennifer Fortuna, Assistant Professor, Occupational Science, and Therapy Department, Grand Valley State University, Allendale MI, Samantha Andrews, Experiential Learning Director, Frist Art Museum, Nashville, TN

Enhanced accessibility is an important challenge for museums today. Our panel will present tools and best practices while sharing case studies at institutions that are taking action and creatively tapping resources to prioritize this issue. Our museum representatives will stress the importance of having the right folks at the table, taking an honest and critical look at your facilities and operations, and the value of sustained patience and persistence throughout the process. SEMC 2021 Technology Competition Showcase

Twatch Party — Meeting Room 16

Co-chairs: Scott Warren, Historic Site Manager II, President James K. Polk State Historic Site, Pineville, NC; Scotty Almany, Digital Media, Programming and Exhibit Logistics Manager, Birthplace of Country Music Museum, Bristol, VA; Alexander Brooks, Education Manager, Gaston County Museum of Art and History, Dallas, NC

SEMC's seventh annual Technology Competition recognizes and rewards excellence in the use of technology by Southeastern museums. The competition encourages innovation, effective design, accessibility, creativity and pride of work, and recognition of institutional identity. Award winners will present their projects. (Sponsor: TimeLooper, Inc.)

Pandemic Programs: Creating Digital Education Resources

<section-header> Watch Party — Meeting Room 17

Moderator/Presenter: Andrea Miskewicz, Education Manager, Museum of History and Holocaust Education, Kennesaw, GA

Presenters: Tyler Crafton-Karnes, Education Program Coordinator and Accessibility Specialist, Museum of History and Holocaust Education, Kennesaw, GA, Isabel Mann, Museum Educator and Digital Specialist, Museum of History and Holocaust Education, Kennesaw, GA, Brittany Sealey, Museum Educator and Digital Specialist, Museum of History and Holocaust Education, Kennesaw, GA

This session will showcase three virtual programs and the digital platforms used to facilitate these programs including Pear Deck, Weebly, and Adobe Spark. Following a short introduction, session participants will choose from one of the three breakout sessions. Each breakout session will allow participants to engage with a virtual program and learn more about the digital platform used to create the program. (Sponsors: EdCom, TimeLooper, Inc.)

Cloud-based Condition Reporting

Room 18 Watch Party — Meeting Room

Moderator/Presenter: Valarie Kincaid, Principal, Museum and Collector Resource, Fort Lauderdale, FL

Presenters: Kali Mason, Curator, Perot Family Collections, Dallas, TX, Eric Kahan, President, Collector Systems, New York, NY, Annika Erikson, CEO and Founder, Articheck,

Condition reporting can be a labor-intensive, albeit necessary, registration activity. Historically, museums have used pencil, paper, and maybe a camera. New resources and apps are now available for conducting and standardizing condition reporting. Panelists will discuss standalone subscription-based apps and cloud-based collections management databases that have integrated condition reporting. (Sponsor: SERA, TimeLooper, Inc.)

The Deaccessioning Pivot:

Ethics and Research Strategies During & Beyond COVID-19

Twatch Party — Meeting Room 19

Moderator/Presenter: Matthew Davis, Director of Museums, Georgia College, Milledgeville, GA

Presenters: Dr. Pamela White (AMM), JD, Director of Graduate Museum studies at Western Illinois University-Quad Cities, Moline, IL, Dr. Preston McLane, JD, Director and Curator of the Museum of Fine Arts, Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL, Ellen Endslow, Director of Collections/Curator, Chester County History Center, West Chester, PA

Aligned with the themes of SEMC Chattanooga, this session will address new debates about deaccessioning museum collections during drastic change. Museum curators and collections specialists are asked to consider deaccessions due to budget reductions, building new collections to include objects from marginalized communities, artists, histories, and overall decolonizing efforts. New approaches, ethical concerns, and next steps will be featured during this panel and discussion. (Leadership Track) (Sponsor: SERA)

Effective Communication for Museum Professionals

IIII Meeting Room 7/8

Moderator/Presenter: Steven Blashfield, Principal and Director of the Cultural Studio, Glavé & Holmes Architecture, Richmond, VA

Presenter: David Butler, Executive Director, Knoxville Museum of Art, Knoxville, TN

Do you find yourself frustrated when your ED doesn't consult you on a decision about your department? Does your staff nod their heads in team meetings, and then go off and do things their way? Does your Board interject themselves into decisions without telling you? As we look at our world today few people would disagree that good communication is suffering. In museums, because people often have multiple job responsibilities it becomes even more critical to communicate as lines of responsibility are often blurred. It is important to recognize that leadership in communication can happen at every level and this session will cover not only how to effectively communicate as a leader, but also how to effectively communicate with your leaders.

Collections Mishaps Redux

IIII Meeting Room 9

Moderator/Presenter: Jonathan Schwartz, CEO, Atelier 4, Charlotte, NC Presenters: Tricia Miller, Head Registrar, Georgia Museum of Art, University of Georgia, Athens, GA, Aimee Brooks, Collections Manager, The Columbus Museum, Columbus, GA, Eric Fischer, Senior Vice President, WTW Fine Art, Willis Towers Watson Northeast, Bethesda, MD

It was cringe-inducing, it was heart-breaking ... but let's do it again! This session is a follow-up to 2020's When Things Go South[east]: Stories of Collections Mishaps. Once again, a panel of two collections professionals and a fine art insurance professional, plus fine art shipping professional acting as the emcee, will come together to present stories of collections mishaps that have been gathered ahead of the conference and offer advice on how to best manage the crisis. A poll will be taken at the end to choose the best story and a prize will go to the winner. (Sponsor: SERA)

How to Specify Exhibit Display Cases for your Museum or Exhibition

IIII Meeting Room 10

Moderator/Presenter: William Stender, President, 10-31, Inc.

Have you ever needed to order or specify display cases for your museum and not know how to describe what you want? Let's take a look at what makes a display case "museum-grade" and how to avoid getting less and paying more. This session will focus on the differences between acrylic and glass, basic case styles, and types of glass, hinges, and gaskets. We will use a "Good, Better, Best and Unacceptable" approach to specifying for your museum. (Commercial Session)

To Podcast or Not to Podcast

IIIII Meeting Room 16

Moderator/Presenter: Scott Williams, President and CEO, Discovery Park of America, Union City, TN

Today's museum professionals are looking for unique ways to implement their missions, broaden their outreach, create new avenues of funding and make more potential guests aware of their museums. Podcasting may offer an effective tool they can include in their communication plan to meet those objectives and more. In May 2019, Discovery Park of America launched a weekly podcast, "Reelfoot Forward: A West Tennessee Podcast." In this presentation, Scott Williams, president and CEO of the 100,000-square-foot museum and 50-acre heritage park in Union

City, Tennessee, and host of the podcast will share lessons learned and the results after producing more than 100 episodes. Attendees will gain knowledge and information that will allow them to evaluate if a podcast would align with their own organization's communication strategies. If they decide to produce one of their own, this session will provide helpful tips and tricks to make their podcast a success. (Sponsor: TimeLooper, Inc.)

The Horrors, the Humors, and the Completely Improbables

IIII Meeting Room 17

Moderator/Presenter: Amelia Gallo, Programs and Membership Manager, Thomasville History Center, Thomasville, GA

Presenters: Ashleigh Oatts, Education Coordinator, Watson-Brown Foundation/T.R.R. Cobb House, Athens, GA

So you want to work in a small museum (or you want to know what it's like to work in a small museum)? Join us for a series of fun (and true) anecdotes about all the wild and wacky things that go on behind the scenes. Bring your craziest small museum story to share and commiserate over our most unusual "other duties as assigned!"

Exhibit to Action

IIII Meeting Room 18

Moderator/Presenter: Eileen Tomczuck, PhD Candidate, Urban Studies, Tulane University, New Orleans, LA

Presenters: Marissa Petrou, Ph.D., Director, Guilbeau Center for Public History; Assistant Professor, University of Louisiana at Lafayette

How can museums motivate visitors to social justice action? Grounded in original audience research and examples from the field, this session will teach museum professionals how to inspire visitors to action through creative engagement. Attendees will learn about effective strategies for influencing visitors' social justice behaviors and will have the opportunity to develop new ideas for encouraging action at their institutions.

Strategic Planning: Creating a New Foundation for the Future

IIIII Meeting Room 19

Moderator/Presenter: David M. Paule, Senior Consultant, Our Fundraising Search, Atlanta, GA

Presenters: Matthew S. Davis, Director of Historic Museums, Georgia College, Milledgeville, GA

Strategic planning is important for a museum in normal years. Coming out of the multitude of crises associated with the pandemic makes it essential. Now is the best possible time to take a fresh approach to plan for your future. The Georgia College House Museums (GCHM) recently completed a new strategic plan. Despite being in the middle of a shutdown, a pandemic, and the panoply of other issues and challenges that 2020 brought, GCHM was able to complete the new plan in a fast, effective manner by using a unique, expedited planning process provided by Our Fundraising Search. In this session, we'll tell you how we did it.

Donor Database Nightmares — And Some Solutions Management Systems

IIIII Meeting Room 20

Moderator/Presenter: Mary Walker, Principal, Leaf Spring Consulting, Knoxville, TN

Presenters: Rachel Katz, Development Manager, High Museum of Art, Atlanta, GA

You KNOW that info is in there, but how do you get it out? Your CRM is too unwieldy, too complicated, and customer service is not being helpful today. Two experienced development executives talk about some of the often-comical issues surrounding donor database management. And, they will discuss how data-entry control and understanding your hierarchical structure can help you tame the database beast.

Museums and Social Justice: Institution-Wide Projects

Meet in the Marriott Lobby at 1:30 for transportation to the Hunter Museum of American Art (10 Bluff View Avenue)

Moderator/Presenter: Adera Causey, Curator of Education, Hunter Museum of American Art, Chattanooga, TN

Presenters: Nandini Makrandi, Chief Curator, Hunter Museum of American Art, Chattanooga, TN, Rachel White, Curator of Education, Birmingham Museum of Art, Birmingham, AL, Jennifer Jankauskas, Curator of Art, Montgomery Museum of Art, Montgomery, AL, Laura Bocquin, Community Arts and Engagement Coordinator, Montgomery Museum of Art, Montgomery, AL

While the protests of 2020 brought racial and socioeconomic issues to the national forefront, many museums had long been centralizing the voice of historically marginalized communities and partnering with community activists to ignite change. The Hunter Museum of American Art, The Birmingham Museum of Art, and the Montgomery Museum of Fine Arts have all been committed to this work for decades through exhibitions, public programs, and community partnerships. This workshop will share how each institution has built community trust and became a center for dialogue and action around social and racial justice. This will be a space for participants to develop their visions for museum activism in their community. (Pre-Registration Required, Max 50 participants)

1:45 pm - 3:00 pm CONCURRENT ON-SITE SESSIONS

Fischer, Senior Vice President, WTW Fine Art, Willis Towers Watson Northeast, Inc., Bethesda, MD

Fine Arts Insurance is something that most collection managers and registrars deal with every day. They send off requests for Certificate of Insurance and sign loan agreements, but do they know what is covered and who is ultimately responsible? This session will cover the importance of condition reports with photographs, policy exclusions, artwork values and recovery amounts, transit insurance, indemnity and seizure laws, and other related topics. Working with Wikidata: Making Collections Accessible

Moderator/Presenter: Kali Mason, Curator, Perot Services, Dallas, TX Presenter: Steven Baskauf, Ph.D., Data Science and Data Curation Specialist, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, TN

In 2020 Vanderbilt University Fine Arts Gallery began uploading their collections data to Wikidata. Wikidata allows for your collection data to be easily accessible and findable, more so than hosting a database on your institution's website. Join Dr. Steve Baskauf, Data Science and Data Curation Specialist and the former VU Fine Arts Gallery registrar, Kali Mason, as they discuss the process and how your museum can utilize Wikidata to make your collection more visible. Crafting Effective Content Marketing Strategies

IIII Meeting Room 18

Moderator/Presenter: Lois Carlisle, Editor, Gibbs Smith Education, Atlanta, GA
Be a curiosity catalyst! Participants in this workshop will learn to acquire and use digital storytelling tools to engage with potential visitors virtually, cultivate new audiences, and facilitate difficult conversations online.

AAM's General Facility Report: What is it? How Do You Use It?

IIII Meeting Room 19

Moderator/Presenter: Tricia Miller, Head Registrar, Georgia Museum of Art, University of Georgia, Athens, GA

Presenters: Christy Sinksen, Associate Registrar, Georgia Museum of Art, University of Georgia, Athens, GA, Elise V. LeCompte, Registrar and Coordinator of Museum Health and Safety, Florida Museum of Natural History, Gainesville, FL, Matthew S. Davis, Director of Historic Museums, Georgia College, Milledgeville, GA

This session will take a fresh look at the AAM General Facility Report (GFR) and how museum professionals use it. We'll start with an introduction to the form and why it is important to have one. Then, as a roundtable discussion, we'll consider its use from three perspectives: 1. When you are looking at another institution's report because they have made a loan request. 2. When you are filling out the form or updating it because your institution wants to request a loan. 3. Other uses for the GFR and what to do if you don't have one. Attendees are encouraged to bring their GFRs and ask questions. (Sponsor: SERA)

Collections Care and Management for Novices

IIIII Meeting Room 20

Moderator/Presenter: Elise V. LeCompte, Registrar, Florida Museum of Natural History, Gainesville, FL

Presenters: Mary Hauser, Registrar and Associate Director, Gregg Museum of Art and Design, North Carolina State University, Raleigh, NC, Alyssa Magnone, Collections Manager, Aiken County Historical Museum, Aiken, SC

Do you work in a small museum where you've been assigned to take care of the collections without any background? Are you new to collection management? Then this session is for you. Three experienced collections professionals will share methods that they use to teach collections care and management to interns, volunteers, and the general public. Attendees with professional expertise will leave with ideas about how to train non-collections professionals in their local or regional communities.

Moderator/Presenter: Jennifer Zazo-Brown, Museum Program Specialist, Smithsonian's National Museum of African American History & Culture, Washington, DC

SEMC Programs 2022-2023:

Leadership Institute and Jekyll Island Management Institute

Room 17 Watch Party — Meeting Room

Presenters: Alumni and Faculty of the SEMC Leadership Institute and Jekyll Island Management Institute.

The SEMC Leadership Institute is a five-day leadership training course that will be held in Charlotte, North Carolina April 24-29, 2022. Several Leadership Institute faculty and graduates from the inaugural cohort will provide an overview of the program, its impact and plans for 2022. Alumni of the Jekyll Island Management Institute will also give an update on the current evaluation process and relaunch of this program in January 2023.

Climate Change and Collections Care: New Tools for Risk Management

Room 18 - Watch Party — Meeting Room

Moderator/Presenter: Blair Wunderlich, Fine Art Broker, DeWitt Stern Group, Inc. New York, NY

Presenters: Sierra Polisar, Collection Manager, Newcomb Art Museum of Tulane University, New Orleans, LA, Amy Hahn, National Loss Control Practice, Risk Strategies Company, Westminster, MA

In 2020, the Gulf Coast recorded five named storms in the short span of three months. Storm events pose a significant risk for damaging collections. As these disasters become more frequent, the cost of insurance becomes equally problematic. Museum facilities and operational plans need to adapt to extreme weather to protect art and outdoor sculpture collections. This session will focus on flood and storm risks and their specific impact on museum collections. In the process, the discussion will review firsthand accounts of claims and lessons learned. The session will provide participants with tools to measure their exposure to loss and practical ways to protect priceless valuables from extreme weather. (Sponsor: SERA)

Stuck in the Middle With You: Strategies for Middle Management

Room 19 Watch Party — Meeting Room

Moderator/Presenter: Tricia Miller, Head Registrar, Georgia Museum of Art, University of Georgia, Athens, GA

Presenters: Ainsley Powell, Curator of Collections, Historic Resources and Museum Program, City of Raleigh, NC, Christa McCay, Collections Manager, Marietta Museum of History, Marietta, GA, Tina H. Smith, Museum Educator, Museum of Anthropology, Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem, NC

This session will provide an opportunity for attendees to connect with others in the field who are making a career in middle management. The panelist will spark discussion among the attendees in the areas of leadership as a middle manager, forging a career path and transitions to new positions or new locations, and success stories in middle management.

Ethical Speed Dating

IIIII Meeting Room 7

Moderator/Presenter: Matthew S. Davis, Director of Historic Museums, Georgia College, Milledgeville, GA

Presenters: Elise V. LeCompte, Registrar and Coordinator of Museum Health and Safety, Florida Museum of Natural History, Gainesville, FL, Ashleigh Oatts, Education Coordinator, T.R.R. Cobb House, Athens, GA, Alan Robison, Director, Anniston Museum and Gardens, Anniston, AL, Rachel Gibson, Vice President of Operations, Belle Meade Plantation, Nashville, TN

Ethical considerations within the museum are increasingly at the fore-front of museum operations, both within and outside the institution. As professionals face these issues, limited support or understanding of ethical issues can hamper the ability of staff to resolve situations or provide needed information to superiors or concerned stakeholders. This session will provide participants a chance to meet with seasoned museum professionals representing administration, collections, and educational departments to discuss issues facing them or their institutions. Through this peer mentoring, our goal is to aid participants in developing strategies to assist them in resolving ethical issues. As this is a speed dating process, participation will be limited and pre-registration will be required. (Pre-registration Required, Max 20)

Speak Up and Speak Out: Museum Advocacy

Meeting Room 8

Moderator/Presenter: Scott Warren, Site Manager, President James K. Polk State Historic Site, Pineville, NC

Presenters: Ember Farber, Director of Advocacy, American Alliance of Museums, Washington, DC, Michelle Schulte, Independent Museum Professional/Consultant, Pensacola, FL, Peter Koch, Education Association, Mountain Heritage Center at Western Carolina University, Cullowhee, NC

Advocacy can take on many forms and exists at many different levels. From advocating with your local municipality to making the rounds on Capitol Hill, advocacy is vitally important to the museum field. In this session, we will hear from advocates that have spoken with national leaders and local governments, seasoned professionals, and first-timers. Join us as we discuss strategies for advocating and how you can best advocate for the field.

Communities Engaged:

Energizing Programming with Local Artists

IIIII Meeting Room 9

Moderator/Presenter: Laura Bocquin, Community Arts and Engagement Coordinator, Montgomery Museum of Fine Arts, Montgomery, AL

Presenters: Chase Quinn, Curator of Education and Programs, Gibbes Museum of Art, Charleston, SC, Sage Kincaid, Associate Curator of Education, Georgia Museum of Art, Athens, GA, McKenzie Drake, Assistant Curator of Public Programs and Community Engagement, Mississippi Museum of Art, Jackson, MS

A dynamic panel explores how programs anchored in partnerships with local artists can attract and welcome new, diverse audiences and sustain participation by amplifying an array of voices from across the community.

Collection Storage Design

Meeting Room 10

Moderator/Presenter: Erica Hague, Collections Manager, Atlanta History Center, Atlanta, GA

Presenters: Gene Reilly, Account Manager/Storage Specialist, Patterson Pope, Atlanta, GA, Kristin Ormand, Account Manager/Storage Specialist, Patterson Pope, Charleston, SC

Designing a collections storage area is a multi-step process. This session will cover topics such as how to design your existing, new, or renovated collection storage area, when to start, who to work with and how to design the space to be secure, safe and allow for collection growth. Presenters will discuss what types of storage equipment are available to house textiles, art, archives, and artifacts as well as how to maximize space and create a flexible area that can grow and adapt to collection changes and who to partner with to create a design. We will discuss small and large collection spaces and provide images and ideas for all types of facilities.

Partnerships Past, Present, and Future

IIIII Meeting Room 16

Moderator/Presenter: Cassandra Erb, Independent Curator, Ph.D. Candidate in Leadership and Change, Antioch University

Presenters: Owen Ever, Performing Artist, Goat in the Road Productions, New Orleans, LA, Kimberly McKinnis, Director, For All Handkind Artist Collective, New Orleans, LA

Partnerships between institutions, artists, scholars, community groups, and a vast array of other entities are vital to the cultural sector. Using many voices across our industry we will explore the nature of partnerships and partnership practices. We will look at what has changed and what hasn't, how are relationships growing both together and further apart, and could there be a new vision for the future of partnerships within the arts and cultural communities at large." (Sponsor: EdCom)

Ask Me Anything: Fundraising Edition!

IIII Meeting Room 17

Moderator/Presenter: Rachel Katz, Development Manager, High Museum of Art, Atlanta, GA

Presenters: George Bassi, Director, Lauren Rogers Museum of Art, Laurel, MS Are you new to development and struggling with an issue, but don't know who to ask? Are you a seasoned fundraiser and have a question that you're embarrassed about because you think you should already know the answer? ASK US ANYTHING! George and Rachel are prepared to answer all questions about donors, budgets, membership, and proposals. Any question you have, we have an answer. Adapting Collections Care in a Global Pandemic

IIIII Meeting Room 18

Moderator/Presenter: Anastasia Matijkiw, Program Manager and Preservation Specialist Conservation Center for Art and Historic Artifacts, Philadelphia, PA

Presenters: Laura Hortz-Stanton, Executive Director, Conservation Center for Art and Historic Artifacts, Philadelphia, PA, Carole King, Historic Properties Curator, Landmarks Foundation of Montgomery, AL, Collier Neeley, Executive Director, Landmarks Foundation of Montgomery, AL

While having optimal collections care program might be desired, there are often barriers that prevent us from achieving the "best" — often related to time, money, and staffing. In the past year, these barriers have been compounded by a global pandemic. This facilitated discussion will focus on lessons learned when it comes to adapting collections care goals and activities when physical distance from our institutions and a rapidly changing environment creates new challenges and uncertainty. (Sponsor: SERA)

We Need to Talk: Approaching Controversial / Difficult Topics

IIIII Meeting Room 19

Moderator/Presenter: Melissa Swindell, Executive Director, Georgia Writers Museum, Eatonton, GA

Presenters: Kathy Dixson, Exhibits Manager, Emory University Libraries, Atlanta, GA; David Allison, Curator Emeritus, National Museum of American History, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, DC Museums are often the center of controversy. Some issues are front and center, like climate change, others are long-standing concerns of Confederate monuments. These conversations are often nuanced and multi-sided, and as museums, we need to talk about it. But how do you start this conversation? Who should be involved? Through this Town Hall, we want to know how your organization is discussing difficult and/ or controversial topics? And we'll share some ideas that we've gathered along the way.

Lessons Learned: Takeaways from Virtual Education

IIII Meeting Room 20

Presenters: Rachel Myers, Deputy Director, Two Mississippi Museums, Jackson, MS, Dulcie Hause, Assistant Director of Education, Cummer Museum of Art and Gardens, Jacksonville, FL

It's no secret that 2020 was a game-changer for education. Museums of all kinds were quick to respond, pulling together various forms of virtual field trips and distance learning offerings — in and out of the galleries/grounds, live and pre-recorded. In this session, we'll reflect on the successes and pitfalls of these endeavors and discuss how these new projects might impact the landscape of school offerings in a post-COVID world. Chattanooga Southside

Meet in Marriott lobby at 1:45 pm for transportation

Join the former Director of Chattanooga's Public Art Program for a guided tour of Chattanooga's Southside focused on outdoor murals and other public art that has transformed the area. Once the urban center of the city, the Southside fell into disrepair in the mid-20th Century. Successful revitalization strategies included building new housing, opening a magnet elementary school, and recruiting creatives to the area. Today, the area's abandoned warehouses and old buildings have been transformed and now house restaurants, shops, and art galleries. The eclectic mix of art, entertainment, and cuisine in the Southside has helped make the area a favorite haunt for locals and a must-see place for visitors. (Preregistration required, Max 25)

Sculpture Fields

Meet in Marriott lobby at 1:45 pm for transportation

Spend the afternoon at Sculpture Fields, the largest sculpture park in the Southeast located on a 33-acre park. The repurposed former brownfield is the beautiful setting for over 40 large-scale sculptures from sculptors from all over the world and features over 1.5 miles of walking trails interweaving the sculptures. (Pre-registration required, Max 25)

Ruby Falls (1720 South Scenic Hwy Chattanooga, TN)

IIII Meet in Marriott lobby at 1:45 pm for transportation

Breathtaking Ruby Falls was accidentally discovered by Leo Lambert in 1928 on an unexpected journey deep within Lookout Mountain in Chattanooga, TN. Leo named the falls after his wife, Ruby, and opened the iconic Chattanooga attraction to the public in 1929. Today, Ruby Falls welcomes guests from around the world to enjoy underground cave adventures, spectacular views of the Cumberland Plateau, and soaring zip lines. (Pre-registration required, Max 25, $25)
